

Critical Race Theory

A Pullias Center Webinar

What is Critical Race Theory (CRT)?

This oft-misunderstood theory has elicited strong responses and moral panic, with some researchers suggesting that CRT is not a theory and questioning its rigor and validity.

In this webinar, we will explore what CRT is and is not with a panel of scholars who ground their research and practice in CRT. The interactive zoom session will provide an opportunity for attendees to ask questions of our expert panel and learn more about CRT. Attendees will also be entered into a drawing to receive a signed copy of the books the panelists have authored.

Thursday, January 26th
10-11:30 am PST
(1pm – 2:30pm EST)
Register Today

The webinar will be facilitated by Raquel M. Rall (UC Riverside) and Antar Tichavakunda (UC Santa Barbara) who were awarded a Pullias Center 2022 Alumni Award to support racial equity-related research and projects.

Kaleb L. Briscoe
Assistant Professor
Mississippi State
University

Nichole Garcia
Assistant Professor
Rutgers Graduate
School of Education

Dr. Aja Y. Martinez
Associate Professor
University of North Texas

Victor Ray
Associate Professor
University of Iowa